"Two Out of Three Ain't Bad" for most people, but the first time was the harm for Gordon "Heavy" Foust, who got onto the TV show "Your Big reak" after his first audition. The show airs this weekend.

Meatloaf serves as local man's 'big break'

By NANCY WHITAKER
Feature Writer

Gordon "Heavy" Foust will be able to view the results of his "big break," on Saturday, Jan. 20.

The local county man auditioned, and won the opportunity to go to California, and became part of a nationally televised show.

Gordon, known as Heavy, auditioned for the program "Your Big Break" in Columbus on July 11. The contest was held at the Dick Clark American Bandstand Bar, where he karaoked to the tune "Two Out of Three Ain't Bad," a song recorded by the singer Meatloaf.

For the audition, he simply wore black jeans and a black shirt.

He says, "We had a great time there, but didn't really expect anything to come out of it."

Approximately two weeks after the audition, Dick Clark Productions phoned Heavy to let him know that he was chosen to appear on the show as Meatloaf. He was to sing the same song that he sang at the audition.

From the time of the phone call, they had only three weeks until the flight out to California. Needless to say, everything moved very quickly.

A camera crew went to Dana Weatherhead to film Heavy at work, and they also went to his home to take shots of Heavy in his everyday life. The premise of the television show is to show the transformation of the everyday person into the star that they are portraying.

Heavy received phone calls to coordinate travel plans, wardrobe, stage drops – the whole nine yards.

Heavy, being a NASCAR fan, attended the Pepsi 400 at the Michigan Speedway, then flew out of Detroit for L.A. after the race, on Aug. 20. On Monday and Tuesday of that week, he had voice coaching, choreography rehearsal, and dress rehearsals. His wardrobe consisted of the Meatloaf hair (he had to wear a wig), tuxedo, suspenders, and a frilly tuxedo shirt. He also wore the classic red scarf that Meatloaf always uses in his performances.

Gordon and Pam Foust are will be glued to the television set on Saturday to watch Gordon as Meatloaf on "Your Big Break."

The stage was designed to look like a small intimate cafe setting, with six round tables placed around. Each table had three people sitting with candlelight. Heavy's wife Pam, her brother Matt, and a friend were allowed to sit at one of the tables.

The taping was done on Wednesday, with a live audience present. The staff selected 100 people to sit in the front section of the audience, and they were the ones who voted on the acts. About 150 more were seated further back in the studio. This was where the family and friends were seated, along with other people, to watch the taping.

There were six acts in the show, and before each impersonator appeared, they showed their "Up Close and Personal" from the tapings done in their workplaces and in their homes.

The acts that will appear with Heavy are Little Richard, Karen Carpenter, David Bowie, Lynyrd Skynyrd and Shania Twain. Quite the line-up!

The talent was amazing. The audience voted, and they announced the winner. Heavy cannot say who won – you will have to watch to find out.

The "Your Big Break" show will air on the following dates; mark your calendar to see a Paulding County man get his big break.

Show times:

- Saturday, Jan. 20, at 2 p.m. on WLIO, Channel 35, Lima
- Sunday, Jan. 21, at 2 a.m. on WPTA Channel 21, Fort Wayne
- Sunday, Jan. 21 at 6 p.m. on Fox Channel 36.

Gordon says that he hopes that Meatloaf watches the show, and feels very fortunate that he got his "Big Break."

Ice cream social

A menu will include sloppy jo, and chicken sandwiches, potato salad, baked beans, pie, cake, lemonade, and coffee. Paulding man sings on ‘Your Big Break’

By MELISSA LINEBRINK
Staff Writer

PAULDING — Gordon Foust, 43, Paulding, knew at the age of 13 that he had a knack for music. He enjoyed both playing and singing music.

On Jan. 20 and 21, he will show America what he can do on stage.

Foust will appear on the one-of-a-kind musical talent show, “Your Big Break,” a Buena Vista Television and Dick Clark production.

“Your Big Break” gives ordinary people with dreams of stardom the chance to perform their favorite musical idols’ biggest hits on stage, for both a live studio audience and millions of viewers at home.

Everyday people impersonate musical superstars while singing in their own voices.

Foust will be impersonating his favorite music star, Meatloaf, and singing his hit song, “Two Outta Three Ain’t Bad.”

Why Meatloaf?

“Because I sing like him,” he said, adding that on various occasions requests have been made while he and his wife, Pamela, who own and operate Masquerade Karaoke, Paulding, hosted events.

Foust was chosen from more than 10,000 entries; and is one out of 108 people selected to compete with other singers from across the country.

Foust and his wife were present at John Paulding Days in June when he was informed that auditions for “Your Big Break” were being held July 7 at Dick Clark’s All-American Bar and Grill, Columbus.

He auditioned July 7 in front of what he calls, “the Hollywood people,” meaning “Your Big Break’s” producers.

“I didn’t think too much of it. I just wrote it off,” he recalls.

However, on July 24, the day after his birthday, he received a phone call from “the Hollywood people” telling him he’d be on the show.

“I couldn’t believe it,” he said smiling.

Foust was flown to Los Angeles on Aug. 20 and the show was taped Aug. 23.

During those days, he worked with the production staff to ace his performance.

“There was a lot of vocal coaching. Over all, (we practiced) one hour per day,’ Foust said.

His outfit mimicked that of Meatloaf. He wore tuxedo suspenders over his regular shirt, a common fashion statement made by Meatloaf. Foust also wore a wig and stage make-up.

Foust was a little nervous prior to performing, but this was not the first time he has performed. He has played the drums and was the lead singer for RENO, a local band.

Foust remembers the day he performed at the NBC Studios in Burbank; the crowd went crazy.

“One minute I was talking to Dick Clark (in plain clothes) and the next, I came out and it was all smoky and the people went nuts!,” he said, explaining that when viewers watch the show on Jan. 20-21, they will see the transition from Foust into Meatloaf.

Judging is done by 100 people who sit around the stage. They each have an electronic voting device and cast their vote at the end of the show.

Foust added that there were also approximately 150 people sitting in the “peanut gallery.”

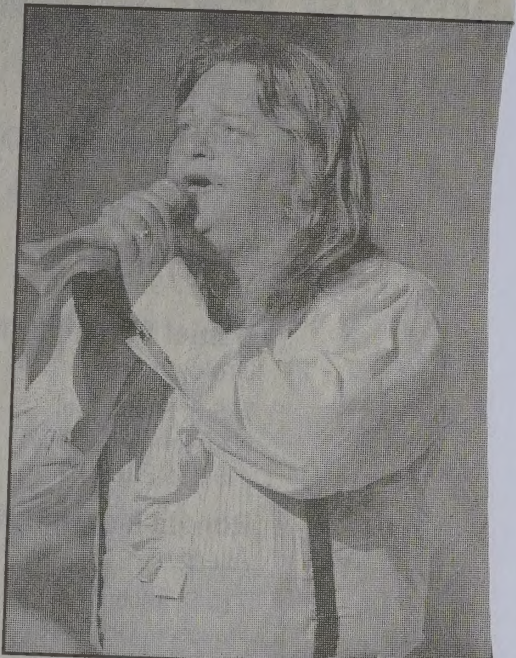
Each episode features six amateurs, and the winner from each episode goes on to the semi-finals and eventually the finals, where the grand prize winner will be awarded $25,000, a trip to Europe and a recording contract.

Looking back on his performance, Foust said, “I felt it was the best I ever sang.”

In fact, after his performance, some of the producers of “Your Big Break” told Foust that he shouldn’t be surprised if he gets a call from Hollywood to impersonate Meatloaf again.

And, even though he doesn’t feel like a star, part of him does hope he will get a call from Hollywood because music and performing has been in his system since he was 13.

The show will air on Jan. 20 on WLIO-TV, Lima, Channel 35 (check local listings for cable channel), at 2 p.m.; on WPTA-TV, Fort Wayne, Channel 21 at 2 a.m., Sunday; and once again on WUPW-TV, Channel 36 Toledo, at 6 p.m. Sunday.



Gordon Foust, of Paulding, will sing Meatloaf’s “Two Outta Three Ain’t Bad” on the musical talent TV show “Your Big Break.”

No rest for this Winter Texan!

By DORTHA SCHAEFER

Bonnie Unland spends her summers in Ohio and her winters in Mission, Texas. But if you think she is on vacation down in the sunny southland, read on!

She loves to sing, a talent she discovered at a very young age and has been using since. Bonnie leads Sunday morning church services in the mobile home park, Winter Green, by conducting the singing and introducing the minister, 81-year-old Leonard Sammon, who has retired from years of pastoring up north. The services are interdenominational and are attended by park residents who have no other church affiliation or who decide the recreation hall of the park is closer and easier to reach. She has done this seven years.

As soon as the park service is over, Bonnie hurries to the First Baptist Church in Mission (she has 15 minutes to get there) where she sings in the choir. She is a lead soprano and now is busy practicing for a cantata.

Back in Ohio she sings with son-in-law Gary Adams and Nelly Adams in a trio called "The Zionaires" from Grover Hill. She also sings in the Trinity Friends Church choir at Van Wert.

On Tuesday in the winter she sings with a group from her church. The group goes to six different rest homes in the Valley and entertains the residents. There are four members of this group, singing the older songs and hymns that are enjoyed by the elderly who live in the homes.

"We use tapes for accompaniment," said Bonnie of her weekly journeys to rest homes. "It is too hard to get pianists anymore."

"I never had music lessons. My mother and dad always sang at home. Mother was an organist and pianist and Dad led the singing at our church for 40 years. That was the Grand Victory Church — it was evangelical then. We went to the Union Center Church when we grew older."

Bonnie keeps busy with other events held in the Winter Green Park. She is preparing a fashion show, just for women, to be held in January. It will feature sports, dress-up clothes and coordinates furnished by a women's clothing store in Mission.

Mrs. Unland has been chairman of and composed the Christmas show for two years in the park. Children come to visit their grandparents during the holidays and she manages to use them in the entertainment.

A favorite charity of Bonnie's is Children's Haven International, a home located a few miles south across the border in Reynosa, Mexico. Abandoned and abused children are taken there and sheltered until grown or adopted, and much of the support for them comes from Winter Texans such as Bonnie. She arranges tours from the Valley to the Home so that people can see what is being done to care for unfortunate boys and girls. She also conducts food drives to benefit the home. Each winter she picks up 15 to 20 of the children and brings them to the park for a day of fun and food. The kids put on a program and residents of the park take up a collection for them.

Cloyd Unland, Bonnie's husband, assists as much as possible with her many ventures. He helps her be host for an appreciation banquet each winter for people who donate to the Children's Home. This banquet entertains about 1,000 persons, seated 60 to a table with children from the home at each table.

"The home furnishes chicken for this banquet," said Bonnie, "and we furnish the other items. At the home's headquarters in Pharr these volunteers who come down from the north for the winter spend hours canning food and juices to be taken to the home. Others bring used clothes with them from their families up north and donate them to the children at the home. I have been involved in this work at Pharr for four years."

BONNIE UNLAND

Bonnie was born Olive Lorene Foust. Her parents, James and Helen Welch Foust, lived near Grover Hill. Her mother promptly nicknamed her "Bonnie", a name which stuck. Her first husband was Carroll Dougal. After his death she married Cloyd Unland of Delphos. She has three children by the first husband — Barbara Adams whose husband Gary is commissioner of Van Wert County. Lyle Dougal, her son, has the lime agency for Paulding, Van Wert, and Mercer Counties. Her daughter Linda Stemen lives in Van Wert where her husband is superintendent of facility number two of Kennedy Kit Manufacturing Co. There are eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Speaking of her earlier years in Paulding County, Bonnie said, "My dad James was a moneymaker, a real worker. He was a good farmer and good with horses. Grandpa Welch wanted him to move at one time to the family farm but it had a lot of rocks on it. Dad said no, because if he went to that farm he thought he would move out broke and with his machinery worn out. He was a stock dealer and took our horses to show at the fair each year."

These days Bonnie and Cloyd spend much too much of their time sitting in doctors' offices where Cloyd has to go for medicine. It helps to be in the Valley where the winters are mild and good for those with heart problems.

Figures supplied by County Auditor Wayne Lothamer show that a home with a market value of $50,000 would pay the following real estate taxes: Antwerp - $792 net per year, Payne - $736, Paulding - $814, townships - $640, all in Ohio; Aboite Township, Allen County Indiana (location of GM plant) - $1,167.94, New Haven - $1,628 and Ft. Wayne - $1,650.

Indiana real estate taxes are subject to credits for disabled

"We don't know how many will visit us," said Hooker, "but if we reach 50 percent of those eligible, we obviously will be very busy." Other groups and individuals helping in some way are: Sam Jeffery, Susan Shockey, Paulding Progress, Antwerp Bee Argus, Kim Humbarger, Bob Brandt, Jack Devitt, Steve Porter, Paulding Hospital and the three school distri

Members of the Scott Centennial Committee have devoted a lot of time and hard work to arrange this historic celebration, Aug. 8 and 9. Heading up the committee were, seated from left — Delmar Foust, Art Foust, Marie Welch; back row — Ruth Ann Glass, Bill Hofacker, Janet Speelman and Vernon O. Pond. Weekly meetings were held to finalize plans as the celebration drew near.

Sunday's agenda begins with open air church services at 10:30 a.m. in front of the Lion's Club featuring Rev. Van Saum, alias Captain Hook; Rev. Terry Martin, Jim Bryan and Irvin Jewel Jr.

Gospel music played by Mark Stockman of Paulding and Ron Ehrman of Oakwood, both members of the Bavarian Brass Band, will start at 1 p.m. on the Lions Club lot. Their concert will be followed at 2:30 p.m. by an appearance of The Adamsons, a gospel group from Danville, Ind.

A time capsule will be buried at Bressler Park near the flag pole and sign after the ball tournament has ended. It will contain Centennial badge, t-shirt, and book along with a schedule of events, pictures of some of the activities and newspaper clippings.

Town officials are expecting the capsule to be opened in 2037.

In addition to slated events, kiddie rides will be running both days, children will be given free balloons, picture gallery of Scott's past will be open in council chambers at the fire department, and a crime stoppers booth will be manned by Ruth Glass.

Haviland's United Methodist Church will have homemade ice cream.

Centennial shirts, books and buttons will be for sale by Marie Welch and Janet Speelman.

Two walls in the Scott council chambers have been set up to exhibit pictures showing Scott as it was in the past. Local residents and former residents donated pictures for the centennial, depicting former businesses, prominent people, buildings, social and volunteer organizations, and important events. Many pictures of the founding Scott family are displayed. Portraits appear of Howard Ackley, a radio announcer for WOWO, Samuel Robert Gerber, Cleveland coroner, and Jim C. Donald, a carnival crier. Displays will remain intact throughout the Scott Centennial. Council chambers is located at the back of the fire station on Blaine St.

One project of the Scott Centennial Committee was to decorate the downtown area. They were responsible for filling tubs along Blaine Street with blooming flowers. They also secured a banner for over the street proclaiming the dates of the centennial observation.

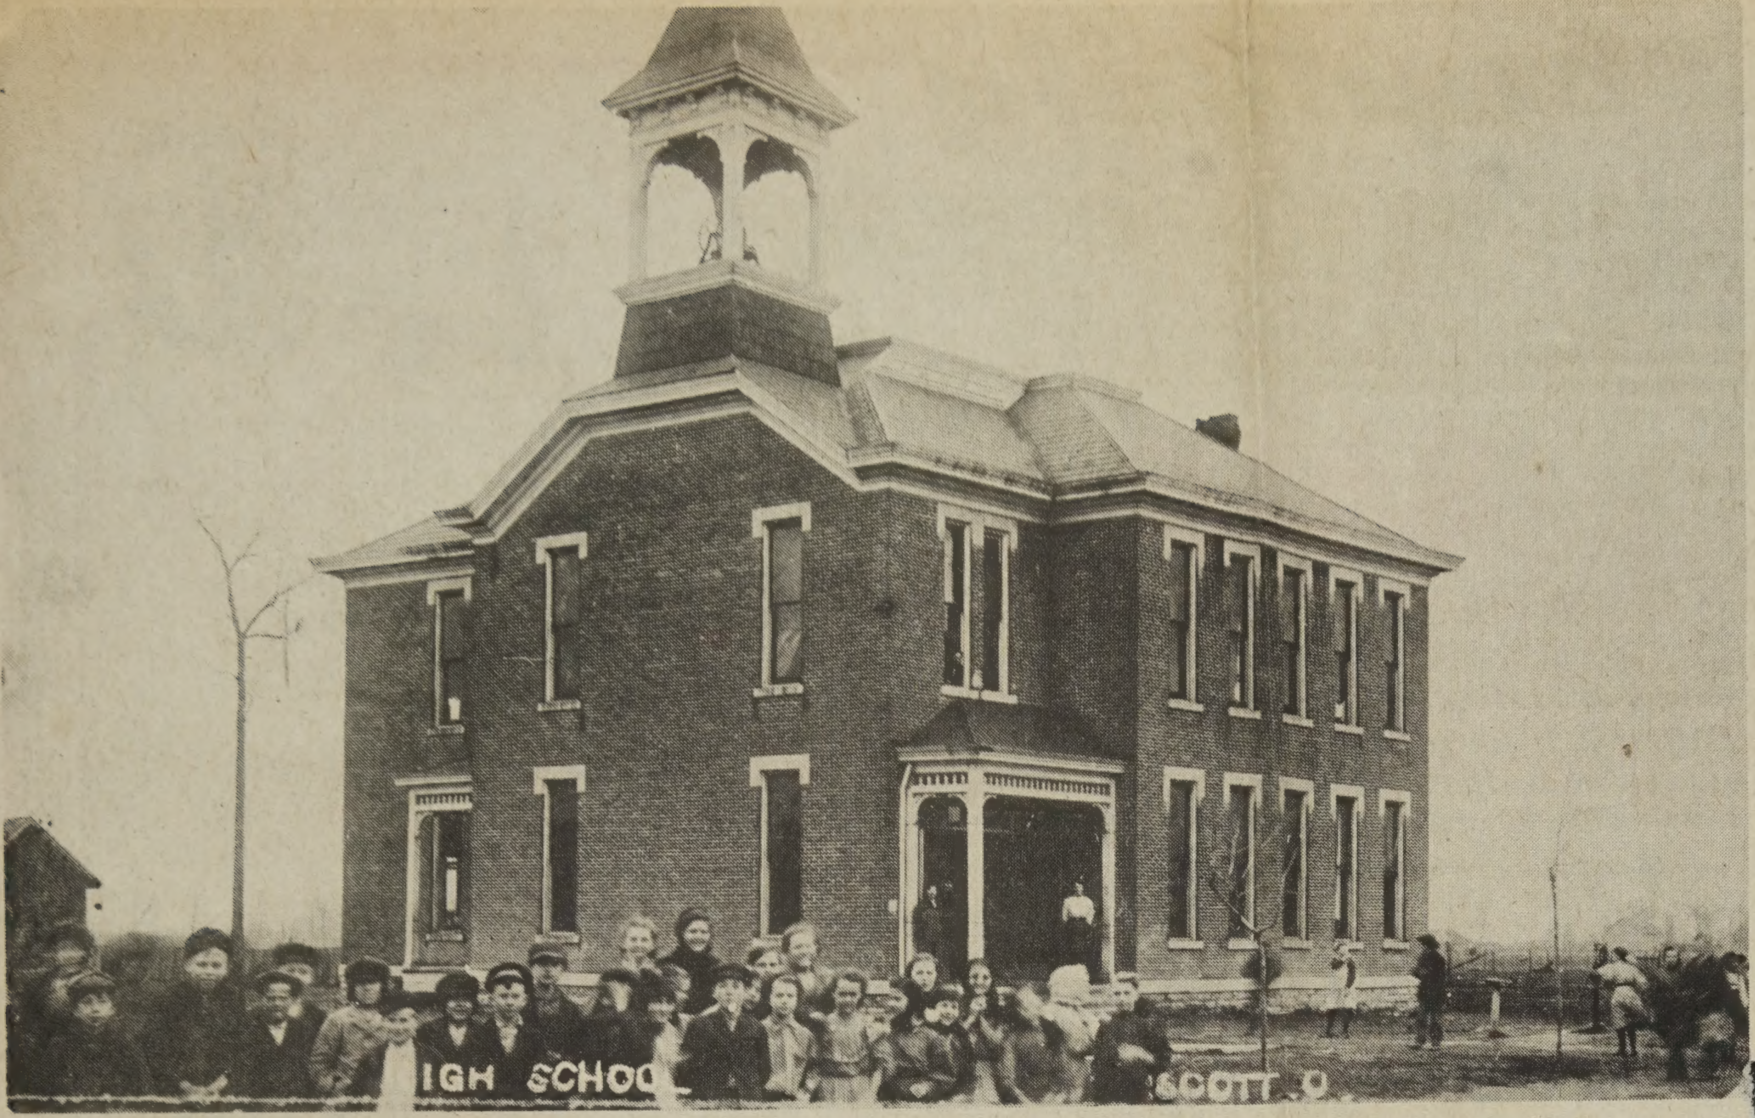
We're Proud Of Our Town



This two-story brick building, once located on College Street in Scott, had four school rooms and a library. It was made to accommodate 233 students from the Scott and Lewellyn schools, centralized in 1890. In 1982 high school and elementary grades were housed in the school. When the school consolidated with Haviland in 1933, the building was torn down and its bricks were used to build a garage at the Haviland school for buses. The first actual school in Scott was a small frame building located between Haven and Water streets on the west side of Washington Street, built by John Scott in 1882. Lewellyn School was built about the same time on McDonald Pike half mile west of Scott.

Along the west side of the main drive of the Scott Cemetery sits an unassuming headstone marking the graves of Jonathon and Marvilla Scott. The only thing to set it apart from all the other stones in the cemetery is the notation on one side that reads: "Jonathon T., founder of village of Scott, Ohio Mar, 1882." John brought his new wife to this area in 1878, mapped the original plot of Scott in 1882 but didn't receive a charter until April 5, 1887. Scott residents are marking the occasion Aug. 8 and 9 with a centennial celebration.

Little is known about the early Scott Fire Department, but pictures of uniformed firemen with their equipment is proof there was one. It is thought a hand-drawn manual pump and a hose cart, supplied with water from fire wells through the village were used. Today, the Scott Fire Department has 40 trained volunteer firemen and EMTs. Six emergency fire and EMS vehicles are housed in a steel building on Blaine Street, along with council chambers and a kitchen. The department was reorganized in 1957 with Bruce Yoh chief of 24 men. He remained fire chief until 1964. At that time Bernard Fisher was appointed chief and served one year. From 1965 to 1969, Doyl Mohr was fire chief. James Adams, current chief took over in 1969 for 18 years of service. Areas covered by Scott fire and EMS are Scott, Haviland, Blue Creek Township, part of Hoaglin Township, half of Union Township and part of Latty Township.

It was later renamed Scott (which the south part of town was always called) following an election by villagers.

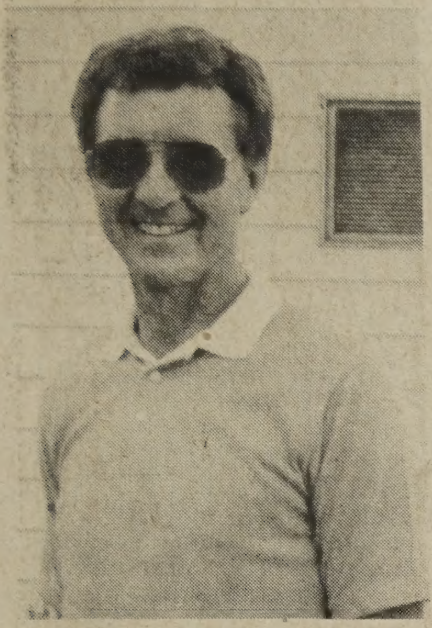
Scott mayor welcomes all to village



MAYOR WILLIAM HOFACKER

By DORTHA SCHAEFER

Bill Hofacker stepped into some big shoes last winter when former Mayor Floyd Rhoad died. Being council president he became mayor of Scott, since the term had less than a year to go. Rhoad had been doing a good job.

Rhoad along with others of the county border town of Scott, had been working to make the celebration of the village centennial a memorable event. Hofacker had been in charge of the town, recreaton area, Breslar Park and continues in that capacity.

"I had that job while council president, taking reservations for the shelterhouse, managing the concession stand and trying to keep everybody happy or maybe I should say keeping the majority of them happy!" said Hofacker.

"When I first went into office a fellow called wanting to know if I could perform a marriage ceremony. At that time I didn't know the mayor could do such a thing. The clerk-treasurer told me I could, but I didn't have the necessary information. Floyd had been mayor for 14 years and knew all about such things.

"We started on the centennial event a year ago thinking we had plenty of time, but the event creeped up on us. We hope we are ready," Hofacker said.

There is a centennial committee: Vernon Pond, Art Foust, Janice Speelmanwith lots of help from others. Parade chairman is Ab Taylor. A good number of people come to meetings.

"We think the mud volleyball games will be interesting. We had hoped for enough teams to make good competition but were surprised when eight registered with a possibility of ten altogether. That event is held back by the pond and is lots of fun to watch," said Bill.

Another special event will be the Sunday morning service conducted by Scott native Von Saum who is "Captain Hook" of the puppet ministry on Channel 44. Hofacker went to school with him. Saum will be in the entertainment tent.

Eighty units have regisistered for the parade on Saturday and more are expected.

On Sunday evening when everything is coming to a halt, those involved in the centennial planning will bury a capsule in the park. It will contain this issue of the Paulding Progress, a centennial book, a T-shirt and anything else the town fathers decide is pertinent to such an event.

Mayor Hofacker is justly proud of the centennial book, "Scott Centennial and Community Homecoming-August 8-9, 1887-1987." Printed by Hubbard Co. of Defiance it is filled with pictures of old and new Scott, prominent citizens, businesses, all the thngs a village likes to point with pride to on this occasion. To compile the book Janice Speelman did the errand running and Evie Thompson, Iva Perry and Florence Black did the rest. Florence Black did all the typing for the 62-page book.

Hofacker is a Paulding County native, having been born near Latty. He has lived in Scott 24 years and worked at B.F. Goodrich for 23 years. He is a sidewall utility man. He and wife Vi have five children, Charles, Gerald, and Jeff Bear, Cheryl Staley and Scott Hofacker.

Yes, Bill is considering running for mayor at the next election. The job is a demanding one, he doesn't get home until around six each evening from his Indiana job but he enjoys being mayor.

"I just hope it (the Centennial celebration) will turn out as good as we planned it to be," said the mayor.

Congratulations!

Murals adorn walls of former lodge room

Just after the turn of the century, Link Evans and his son, painters from the Scott area, created four murals on the east and west walls of the Odd Fellows Masonic Lodge. The lodge was housed on the second floor of what is now Pond Seed Company.

Two of these murals were ruined from the weather, being painted along an uninsulated outside wall of the building. Condensation caused the paint to bubble, flake and chip until little remains intact. The remaining two murals are in relatively good shape.

One is a night scene of a country church with lighted windows. Masonic symbols are evident in the three stained glass windows at the front of the small dark building. Surrounding the church is a cemetery, dotted with gleaming headstones and accented with pointed evergreens; drenched in moon and starlight.

The second mural depicts a rocky, mountainous terrain in what appears to be summer. In the valley floor is the River Styx, lined by green trees, reflected in its calm surface. The river gently flows into the ocean visible in the background against the pale sky.

Vernon Pond, owner of the building, said at one time the Odd Fellows Lodge shared the upper story of his building, located on the south side of Blaine Street, with members of the Red Man Lodge. The two had a joint commons room and dining facilities while each had its own preparation and meeting rooms.

Pond also remembers basketball games and dances being held on weekends in what had been the meeting room of the Red Man Lodge. The chalk board used to keep track of the games' scores is still on the wall with writing on it from that era.

Briceton Elevator, Inc. was established in 1935 as a grain storage facility serving the Briceton area farmers. As the area needs for more services grew the company expanded to include anhydros ammonia and welding supplies. Then in 1960, Briceton Elevator, realizing the market for gas service "beyond the mains," expanded again to provide propane gas in Paulding area. The service, now advertised as BRICETON PROPANE, provides propane gas to seven-county areas including NE Indiana and NW Ohio.

In 1983, BRICETON WATER CONDITIONING was born as a division of Briceton Elevator. The water conditioning service is committed to providing good clean safe water and service and now provides water softening, iron removal, sulfur removal and drinking water purifying equipment to Paulding, Defiance and Van Wert and Putnam counties.

With the purchase of Cecil Elevator Co. in 1983, the Paulding, Antwerp and Sherwood area and Cecil area farmers found grain storage and marketing facilities in a convenient location. In addition to grain sales, the Cecil facility offers animal feeds, fertilizer, propane gas and softener salt.

Post office has served Scott since early 1880's

On Sept. 27, 1881, Thomas J. Lewellyn became the first postmaster in what is now Scott. Seven months later, he relinquished his post to W. H. Drury on April 27, 1882.

This might be explained by the only written history of the office, kept on file in the post office, which says: "Scott, Van Wert County, established as Lewellyn in Paulding County Sept. 27, 1881; changed name to Scott and located in Van Wert County, April 17, 1882."

Over the years, the exact story has been lost, but former Scott postmaster Arthur Foust said Scott was originally two towns, Lewellyn in Paulding County and Scott in Van Wert County. Because the government would not allow two post offices that close, villagers held an election to decide what the united town would be called.

Foust said because more people lived on the Van Wert side, Scott became the official name of the village and post office.

Three former postmasters are still living, two in Scott. Ned D. Scheidt was named officer in charge June 22, 1974 with the postmaster position confirmed Nov. 23, 1974. He remained in Scott four years, until July 2, 1978, when current postmaster Gary Mefferd became officer-in-charge. Scheidt is now postmaster at Middle Point.

Foust immediately preceded Scheidt as postmaster. He held the position from May 17, 1968 until Scheidt's arrival. Scott's only woman postmaster, manned to office from Oct. 16, 1941 until Foust's term began, was Bernice I. Hough, deceased.

Before Mrs. Hough came Harold N. Dougal, who resides on the west end of Scott. He was postmaster from Feb. 6, 1934 until Mrs. Hough assumed charge in 1941.

According to Dougal, the local office had a fourth class rating in the beginning. This means the postmaster owned most of the equipment and furnished the space for the office. While under this rating, the post office was moved numerous times, usually in local grocery stores.

During Dougal's seven year term, the post office was moved three times. It was during Mrs. Hough's term the office took a third class rating. This means the postal department pays rent for housing the office and provides necessary equipment. Clyde Taylor remodeled the building at the corner of Drury and Blain streets then selected to house the post office. It remains at that location.

Clarence L. Gordon was postmaster from July 20, 1916 until Dougal took over in 1934. During this 18-year period, Dougal said there were two rural routes in Scott. Carriers were Benjamin Starkey and Ed Hammond. In 1934, these routes were consolidated and part of Rt. 1 was transferred to Van Wert post office.

Dougal said he transferred to rural carrier in 1941, leaving the postmaster's job. He continued to deliver mail until July, 1971 when the rural route became intermediate with Rt. 3, Van Wert. At that time the rural carrier began working out of Van Wert.

There were 114 customers on Dougal's 42 mile route when he started, but he said the numbers are now smaller. Postmaster Mefferd said there are now 80 boxes on the rural route. He added 130 boxes in the office are rented for a total of 350 people receiving postal service from the Scott office.

Foust was postmaster six years in Scott and worked as a substitute carrier for 11 years. He remembers the office as quiet. "Nothing unusual ever happened, just routine," he said.

In addition to the post office, the small brick building also houses a small Brumback Library station.

Memories of these former and present postmasters are the only record of the Scott Post Office history, other than a list of postmasters:

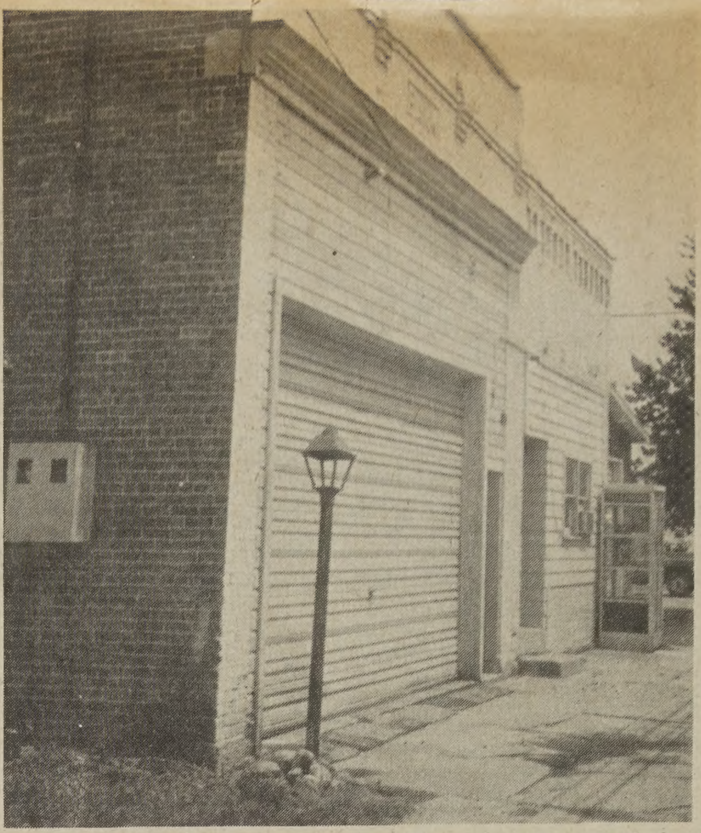
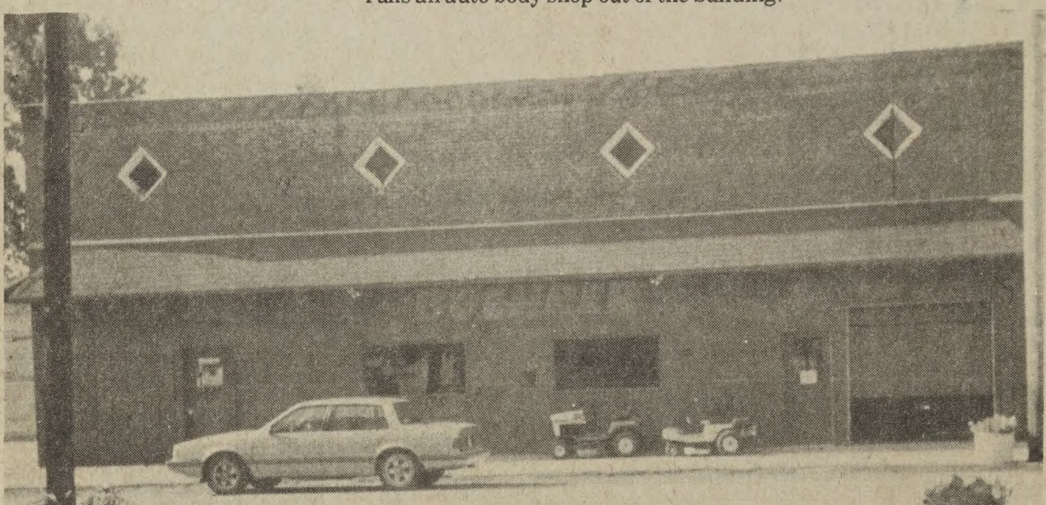
Lyric Theater building, located on the south side of Blaine Street between Drury and Garfield streets, is currently owned by a Van Wert doctor. Picnic tables and small sheds are manufactured there. At one time Burton's Rider's garage was housed in the building. Of course it was originally a movie theater. A local resident still has the old movie projector from the theater.

Caretakers of the Scott Cemetery do not know who is buried in this plot in the southwest corner. An unreadable headstone sits in serene solitude beneath a single oak tree, unvisited and forgotten year after year.



An old building on the north side of Blaine Street just west of Sheridan housed the Scott Bank, founded in 1901 by Charles Brown. He came to Scott with $90,000 in cash and left some years later with $100,000. Clerks in his bank were Jim and Nan Downing. They later operated the Farmers' Bank until it consolidated with the bank of Paulding in 1930. Currently Jim Poling runs an auto body shop out of the building.

Bernice Beech now lives in one of the original village buildings on the northeast corner of Grant and Blaine streets. John and Bruce Heyman had a garage there, where they sold cars, gas, oil, tires and batteries in addition to repair work.



The large brick building across from the Lion's Club on Blaine St. currently houses Buehrer Power Equipment Inc. At one time the building was owned by Russell Perry who had a garage in it. Perry purchased the building in 1936 from Remus Mohr who had used the structure as a grocery.

Defiance man and his restored Harley featured in current issue

When Jayme Price entered his custom rebuilt Harley in an Indianapolis motorcycle show in late 2005, he didn't have any expectations.

"I just wanted to show the bike," said the rural Defiance resident. "When it won the editor's choice award from people at Easy Riders magazine, I was very surprised."

The selection came with the added bonus of a multi-page spread in V-Twin, one of several national motorcycle magazines published by the Easy Riders group. The magazine features selected custom bikes and their latest accessories.

Price and his Harley-Davidson are featured in the current issue.

"I acquired the bike after t was involved in an accilent," said Price. "It took me about three months to put it back together with my own special touches."

Price, 27, actually tore the damaged bike down to its bare frame and reassembled it.

He added his own sheet metal, tank, handle bars, fenders and totally wrapped pipes from front to back.

"I finished it during the summer of 2005," he stated. "It was a lot of hard work, but it was worth it. The finish is pretty durable and easy to clean."

Price, son of local residents Jimmy and Debra Price, is a 1998 graduate of Defiance High School. He earned a journeyman's card in tool and die from Northwest State Community College and is employed as a skilled tool and die maker at Defiance Metal Products.

He and his wife, Stacie (Webb), are parents of a 6-week-old son, Everett.

"I just wanted to show the bike."

"I started working on motorcycles with I was 19 or 20," said Price. "I used to work for Jeff Hill of Hill's Performance in Ney, whose bikes have been featured many times in national motorcycle magazines."

Webb recently broke ground for his own motorcycle shop on Cromley Road, which he hopes to open next spring.

"I really enjoy rebuilding motorcycles," he stated. "I've probably done 10 or 12 now. I like being creative."

As for his own special bike, Price admitted family responsibilities have limited his riding this summer.

"Maybe in the future I can ride more," he said. It's a blast to ride."

Foust Recalls Memories Of 36 Year Career At Grain Co.

Lyle Queen, right, Hicksville Grain Co. manager, congratulates Don Foust, left, petroleum manager, on his retirement December 31. Foust has been with the local company since July 1, 1950 for a total of over 36 years service.

December 31 marked the end of a 36 year, 600,000 plus mile career for Don Foust as petroleum manager at The Hicksville Grain Company.

Foust hired in at the local facility on July 1, 1950 and began his career driving an IH truck. He says he has since driven six Chevys "over 100,000 miles each and I've never been farther than 18 miles from home."

In his years at the Grain Company Foust says he's seen lots of improvements. In 1950 the Company's offices were still housed in the old building and much of the present silo complex has been constructed since Foust's early days on the job.

As for improvements, Foust commented that the power hose winding system has probably been the biggest time saver for him. The first trucks he used had large boards mounted on the sides and the 100 foot hose had to be hand-wound around the boards.

Although there aren't too many similarities between Foust's home fuel delivery job and that of a mail carrier, he remembers two incidents where dogs, the acknowledged mailcarrier's nemisis, have also given him a hard time in completing his appointed rounds.

Once, Foust related, he was hurrying to complete a delivery with a thunderstorm threatening. He had left the truck door open while he finished putting his equipment away and a loud clap of thunder hit as the storm began. The thunder had caused the customer's white German Shepherd to jump into the truck cab where it would not get out or let Foust in. He had to call the customer out into the storm to get the dog out.

On another occasion after making a delivery Foust was tacking the bill to the customer's door since they were not at home. He heard a noise, turned and saw the family dog coming up from behind. He said he just had time to slip inside then waited before being able to leave.

Looking ahead to retirement Foust says he plans to do some fishing and maybe travel when its warmer. Until then Foust and his wife Mary plan to spend time with their family and friends. The Fousts have three children, Gerald of Mark Center, Wendy Hammond of Hicksville and Donna Painter of Findlay. They also have three grandchildren, two step grandchildren and a great granddaugher.

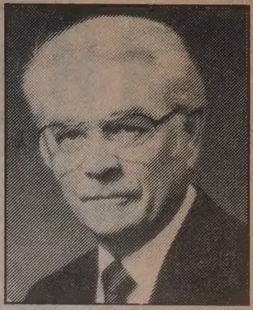
Family Value and Family Values are the Appeal of the Fair



by Jack C. Foust
Ohio State Fair General Manager

Family entertainment is getting harder and harder to find these days. There just aren't that many places you can take the whole family. And when you do find such places, the cost is often out of reach.

That's why we're particularly proud to present the 1990 Ohio State Fair. It continues the tradition of great family entertainment value that has always been the hallmark of the Fair. For one, low admission price, you can see more than 70,000 exhibits, displays and shows. You can take unlimited advantage of the thrills of 55 spectacular midway rides. You can see the top names in entertainment. It's a safe, fun place for your entire family to enjoy. And that's just the beginning.

The Ohio State Fair features some of your all-time favorites, along with some great new additions.

Our Junior Fair is the largest in the nation. It showcases the hard work and determination of young Ohioans. Each year, they bring more than 23,000 of the finest animals in the state to compete and reap the rewards of the Sale of Champions. Nowhere in America can a youngster learn the benefits and rewards of a job well done than at the Ohio State Fair. Further continuing the emphasis on our rich agricultural heritage are the expansive displays of prize-winning varieties of vegetables, fruits and flowers.

CELEBRATE OHIO
THE OHIO STATE FAIR

AUGUST 2-19

New to this year's Fair is the Vietnam Veterans Moving Wall. It gives fairgoers an opportunity to honor and pay tribute to the 2.7 million men and women who served our country. A half-scale replica of the national monument in Washington D.C., it stands as a memorial to those who didn't return from Vietnam. It will be open for viewing 24 hours a day.

Also making its debut at this year's Fair is a collection of antique, collector and milestone vehicles. More than 100 of these "gems" have been selected from an elite group for you to enjoy at the Fair. It's the cream-of-the-crop and valued at more than $3 million.

Naturally, we have another roster of top entertainers ready to round out your visit.

All told, the Ohio State Fair offers you and your family the summer's best entertainment value. We look forward to having you join us as we celebrate the talent, environment and inventions that make Ohio the great state that it is. Look through the schedule. Pick your favorites. Then Celebrate Ohio at the 1990 Ohio State Fair! ★

Moving Wall To Be Featured At State Fair

7-4-90

This year's Ohio State Fair features an exhibit honoring the thousands of Americans who died in Vietnam, according to Jack C. Foust, general manager.

The Moving Wall, a one-half replica of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial in Washington, D.C., will be on display for the entire fair, August 2-19, in the 17th Star Memorial Park at 17th and Clara Avenues.

As of January 1, 1990, the wall, that is made of aluminum panels, lists 58,175 names in chronological order beginning in 1959. This summer, 1,300 are still listed as Missing in Action. The lettering is slightly raised, allowing people to not only touch, but to actually feel the names of friends and loved ones.

The structure stands 6 feet high and is 250 feet in length.

"We are very happy to be able to bring the Moving Wall to the Ohio State Fair so folks from all over Ohio will be able to have the opportunity to honor fellow Americans who did not come home from Vietnam," Foust said.

Although the wall is a part of the fair, it will remain on display 24 hours a day. The public may view the wall free of charge after the fair closes at 11 p.m. and before it opens at 7 a.m., according to Foust.

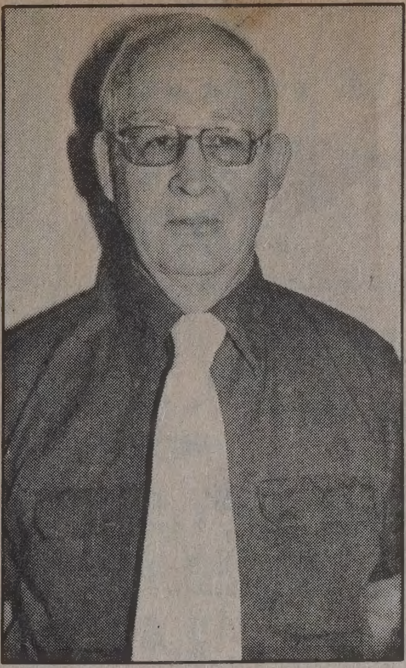
Foust To Chair Bike-A-Thon



DONALD FOUST

The Central Regional Office of St. Jude Children's Research Hospital announced today that Rev. Donald Foust has agreed to chair the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital Bike-a-Thon in Hicksville.

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital was founded by entertainer Danny Thomas. The institution opened its doors to the public in 1962 to combat catastrophic diseases which afflict our children. St. Jude Hospital is non-sectarian, non-discriminatory, and provides total medical care to over 4,200 patients.

At St. Jude, scientists and physicians are working side by side seeking not only a better means of treatment, but also the causes, cures and prevention of these terrible killers.

All findings and information gained at the Hospital are shared freely with doctors and hospitals all over the world. Thanks to St. Jude Hospital, children who have leukemia, Hodgkin's disease, sickle-cell anemia, and other child-killing diseases now have a better chance to live.

The Bike-a-Thon program is dedicated to "Jamie". Jamie is from Ohio and was diagnosed with leukemia in May of 1983, and began treatment at St. Jude Children's Research Hospital. Today, her cancer is in remission and she is doing quite well. Jaime is a living example of the progress and success of the research, patient care, and educational programs of this internationally recognized Hospital.

We sincerely appreciate the concern that Rev. Foust has for our work and we hope the citizens of Hicksville will support the Bike-a-Thon this Spring to help provide the funds that are needed to preserve the world's greatest asset..."Our Children."

Foust To Chair Fall Bike-A-Thon

The Central Regional Office of St. Jude Children's Research Hospital has announced that Rev. Donald Foust has agreed to chair the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital Bike-a-Thon in Hicksville. The annual event will be held in late summer.

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital was founded by entertainer Danny Thomas. The institution opened its doors to the public in 1962 to combat catastophic diseases which afflict our children. St. Jude Hospital is non-sectarian, nondiscriminatory, and provides total medical care to over 4,200 patients.

The Bike-a-Thon program is dedicated to "Jaime." Jaime is from Ohio and was diagnosed with leukemia in May of 1983, and began treatment at St. Jude Children's Research Hospital. Today, her cancer is in remission and she is doing quite well. Jaime is a living example of the progress and success of the research, patient care, and educational programs of this internationally recognized hospital.

St. Jude officials state, "We sincerely appreciate the concern that Rev. Foust has for our work and we hope the citizens of Hicksville will support the Bike-a-Thon this fall to help provide the funds that are needed to preserve the worlds greatest asset . . . 'Our Children' ".

Payne Union State Bank Has New Mini-Computer

PAYNE - Something new has been added at the Union State Bank.

Beginning Dec. 1, employes at the facility started programming the bank's new mini-computer, the only one of its kind in the area. Most of the area banks sent their work to be done on computers in nearby larger banks.

"The new machine", said Orlando Foust, executive vice president and cashier, "will enable us to go to daily interest when all the accounts are programmed. The month of December will be a period of preparing for use of the machine".

Foust said that no employes will lose their jobs due to the mini-computer. It will give better service to all persons having accounts or doing business of any kind at the bank.

"A monthly statement will be issued for all checking account holders", said Foust. "There are several other advantages, too. There will be automatic printing of 1099 forms, the ones to be submitted with income tax forms to show interest earned".

"The government is constantly making changes in tax form requests, and the machine is equipped to conform with these demands since a lot of flexibility is built into it. Trial balances, the kind that must be made constantly, are also built into it".

"The machine is speedy - it prints 150 characters per second. By keeping the work here in Payne, we are able to give on-the-spot information to customers. If a mistake is made in any account, corrections can be made easily and quickly", Foust explained.

Each customer's sheet is equipped with a length of magnetic tape which contains all information on his account. Although the machine performs fantastic feats, it is not too difficult to use and all present bank employes are learning to operate it.

All business of the bank is being fed into the mini-computer this month and customers will soon be seeing evidence of its work.

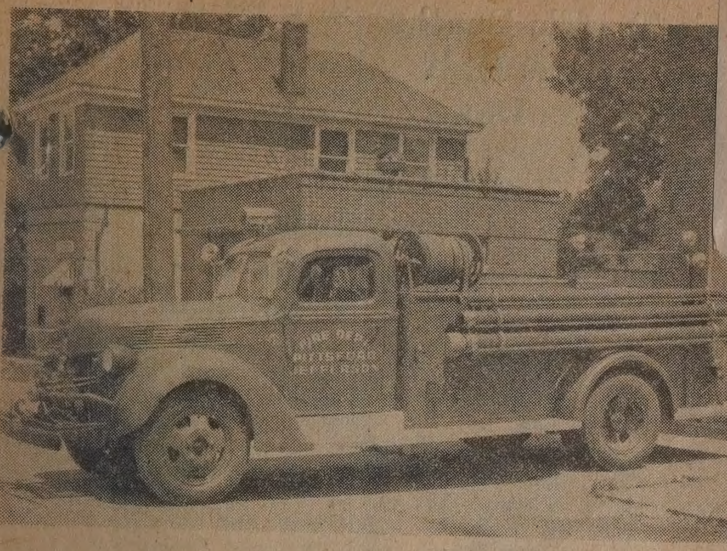
CECIL FIREMEN NOW READY FOR CALL



With the arrival of a loaned fire truck last week, the newly organized Cecil Firemen are ready for call.

This summer Crane Twp. offered to equip Cecil with a fire department if the village would house and man the equipment, A new $14,000 fire truck was ordered and it is now being equipped at the Richmond Machine Shop in Montpelier. While it is being equipped, the Montpelier firm loaned the above fire truck to Cecil. Last week the loaned fire truck arrived and the newly formed fire department tested the equipment to make sure everything is ready to go.

Glen Foust, Crane Twp. Clerk, last week, advised that any resident of Crane township should call the Cecil Fire Department in case of fire. The Cecil firemen will use the fire truck, pictured above, in answering calls, until their new truck is equipped and delivered to Cecil. The fire truck is housed in the city hall in Cecil.

CANCUN, Mexico (AP) — The most intense hurricane on record surged into the Gulf of Mexico today after battering the Yucatan Peninsula with 160 mph winds that leveled slums, pummeled posh resorts and forced tens of thousands to flee.

of all the women in the community," said Weaver of the Athena Award, initiated by the Lansing, Mich., Chamber of Commerce.

Weaver, who holds a Bachelor of Science degree from Defiance College and a masters degree from the University of Toledo, was instrumental in starting the Home Health Agency in Defiance County. She also started the 24-hour Home Care Program, was instrumental in starting the county's Hospice Program in 1985 and was one of the original members and founders of the Council of Social Services in Defiance County.

Weaver has also been an active administrator. She served from 1983-87 on the Board of Directors of the Association of Ohio Health Commissioners (AOHC) as a director at-large. She has been a member of the AOHC since 1976.

Weaver also has a long list of other health-related accomplishments and has provided numerous hours of community service.

Besides the Athena Award, she also received the Ohio council of Home Health Agencies' Dorothy Royce Award in 1986.

Weaner also has a long history of service to Defiance. A graduate of Ohio State University's Law School, Weaner told banquet guests, "I'm very proud to be the recipient of this distinguished award and would like to thank those who made this award possible."

Actually, Weaner's exploits had a lot to do with that. He has been active in many local and state law organizations and has also been past president of Defiance Rotary Club, a DC trustee and chairman of the board for eight years, chairman of Defiance County Republican Committee for 34 years and a delegate to the Republican Presidential Convention in 1972.

In addition, he has been chairman for the Defiance County Red Cross Chapter, the president of the Defiance City School Board of Education, Defiance Youth Center and Defiance-Paulding District Shawnee Council of Boy Scouts.

The World War II veteran also has many other accomplishments and awards including an honorary Doctor of Law degree from DC, Sertoma's Service to Mankind Award and the Red Cross's Citizen-of-the-Year.

While individual awards highlighted the evening, eight city businesses also received recognition for 25 or more years of operation.

The list included Brown's Bakery, 505 Downs St.; Home Saving and Loan Association, 405 W. Third St., Kissner's, 524 Clinton St., Central Foundry, Route 6; radio station WONW, 2110 Radio Drive; Stambaugh Jewelers, 512 Clinton St.; Nelson and Bob'a Car Care Center, 1723 Upton St., and Riverview Memory Gardens, Ohio 424.

The businesses were recognized in order of longevity by Chamber executive director Mike Schultz. Brown's Bakery has enjoyed the most years of operation with 115 while Home Savings and Loan Association is celebrating its 100th anniversary and Kissner's boasts 60 years. Central Foundry, WONW and Stambaugh Jewelers were each honored for 40 years of business while Nelson and Bob's was recognized for 30 years and Riverview Memory Gardens, 25.

Besides awards, the evening also featured the installation of 1989 chamber president Curt Hench, financial officer of Chief Supermarket. He will succeed Michael Klein, who presides throughout 1988.

"I think the challenge is to make a difference," said Hench upon accepting the presidency. "The chamber has made a difference in its 50 years. I think there is a tremendous amount of potential for the future if we build on the positive foundation."

Besides Hench, 1989 officers will include first vice-president Steve Grosenbacher, second vice-president Doug Shindler, treasurer Joseph Steyer, executive director Mike Schultz and executive secretary Sue Frederick.

Retiring director plaques were presented to Anthony Grohman, Mark Klein, Michael Klein, Robert Lawson and Eric Rolf.

The chamber's board of directors were also introduced. They include Kreg Culler, Steve Hubbard, Kevin McDonald, Steyer, Marvin Yoder, Grosenbacher, Hench, Lee Hendricks, John Stamer, Cathy Wheeler, Tom Hubbard, Jack Koester, Rod Martin, Tom Rogliatti, Shindler, Joe Leever, Terry Melton, Jim Straley, Bob Warne and Bob Wolfe.

Guest speaker William Headley, the "Preachin' Deacon," capped the evening by urging the banquet audience to "put on a happy face."

Headley delighted the audience with a number of humerous anecdotes, but also gave chamber members his formula for happiness — count your blessings, proclaim your rarity, go another mile and use wisely your choice.

Home Savings and Loan Association sponsored Headley as the speaker.

Rev. Tom Oedy of St. John's Catholic Church provided the invocation and benediction.

of all the women in the community," said Weaver of the Athena Award, initiated by the Lansing, Mich., Chamber of Commerce.

Weaver, who holds a Bachelor of Science degree from Defiance College and a masters degree from the University of Toledo, was instrumental in starting the Home Health Agency in Defiance County. She also started the 24-hour Home Care Program, was instrumental in starting the county's Hospice Program in 1985 and was one of the original members and founders of the Council of Social Services in Defiance County.

Weaver has also been an active administrator. She served from 1983-87 on the Board of Directors of the Association of Ohio Health Commissioners (AOHC) as a director at-large. She has been a member of the AOHC since 1976.

Weaver also has a long list of other health-related accomplishments and has provided numerous hours of community service.

Besides the Athena Award, she also received the Ohio council of Home Health Agencies' Dorothy Royce Award in 1986.

Weaner also has a long history of service to Defiance. A graduate of Ohio State University's Law School, Weaner told banquet guests, "I'm very proud to be the recipient of this distinguished award and would like to thank those who made this award possible."

Actually, Weaner's exploits had a lot to do with that. He has been active in many local and state law organizations and has also been past president of Defiance Rotary Club, a DC trustee and chairman of the board for eight years, chairman of Defiance County Republican Committee for 34 years and a delegate to the Republican Presidential Convention in 1972.

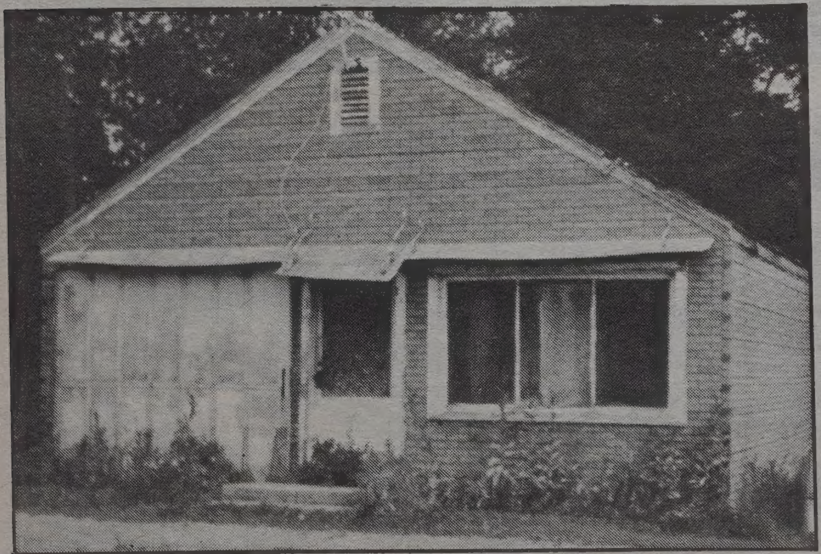
Russell's Store, a lasting memory



After 20 years of owning and operating Russell's Store in Mandale, Donald and Juanita Russell decided to retire from the grocery business in 1976. The building, which stood on the corner of Ohios 66 and 114, is now gone. But, the memories of running the store with her husband and seven children are cherished by Juanita. A daring daytime robbery at gun point in Mandale? Today on a drive through the quiet community of homes at the intersection of Ohios 66 and 114 it would not seem possible that such an event could have ever occurred here. But at one time a building stood in the southeast corner of the intersection. There, in 1966, two young men walked into Russell's Store and robbed the owner.

Juanita Russell, the proprietor, remembers the day well. The young men walked in and asked for ice cream, reached into their pocket and paid for it, then produced a gun and demanded cash. They then demanded that Juanita and a customer go into the kitchen area while they made their escape. After their departure Juanita phoned her husband Donald who just happened to be in Oakwood at the gas station getting the township truck serviced. When she told him her story it just so happened that a similar robbery had occurred earlier across the street from him. The grocery store in Oakwood had been robbed at gunpoint and the employees were put into the cooler. The robbers were apprehended while robbing a business in Delphos a few days later.

Other than another small break-in at night, owning and operating the corner grocery-gas station was just routine work. Donald and Juanita Russell had purchased the building from Fred and Lula Dot-of Roselm and moved it to its present site just south of the store building.

Donald and Juanita had grown up as neighbors. Juanita had been raised in a large family with 14 children, 11 reaching adulthood while Donald had grown up with one step-sister and two cousins. They were married in 1936 and Donald was engaged in farming and painting. Juanita was a housewife and busy mother with seven children to take care of. When they purchased the store the children re-out when they weren't helping their father in his painting business.

In December of 1979 Juanita decided it was time for her to retire and the store closed its doors. Then in August of 1986, after over 50 years of marriage, Donald passed away. Now Juanita enjoys her leisure time visiting her seven children, her 22 grandchildren, four step-grandchildren, seven great-grandchildren with another one on the way. Now Juanita enjoys her leisure time visiting her seven children, her 22 grandchildren, four step-grandchildren, seven great-grandchildren with another one on the way. She and her friend Dorothy go out to eat and run errands together. When she is at home her hands are usually busy doing latch hook, a favorite hobby of her and her husband's. Before he died, Donald had completed over 200 latch hook items which are now treasured by family and friends. Juanita says she probably has finished around 50 herself.

Another favorite hobby was making clown dolls with a group of neighbor ladies. She has albums full of pictures of Donald's finished pieces and the dolls.

The store building is now gone and emptiness prevails on the corner where you could once fil your gas tank and buy a soda. The trucks no longer pull in to unload their supplies. But Juanita Russell and her family will always have their memories of the 20 years they worked together in the last grocery in town.

fice in the lab. As hard as it was to resist, he had already made up his mind. His G.I. bill was running out of time and he had already looked into graduate school.

He entered Ohio State graduate school. Still not sure what field of study he wanted to pursue he looked at dentistry, veterinarian and optometry. None really filled all the requirements that he wanted to commit to. Somehow family practice felt like the choice to make.

In the meantime a salesman friend of his called and said he thought he could get his "salesman" car for him. One day he called again and they arranged to meet so Smith could pick up his car. His friend just happened to bring along his ex sister-in-law. Not only did Smith take home a car, he took home a lady. About a year and a half later Anne became his wife and they have now been happily together 43 years.

Smith was later accepted into med school and after 11 years in college, a navy career and a career as a successful salesman he was a full-fledged doctor. He and Anne decided to travel around Ohio and look for a community that they felt welcome and needed. There was no shortage of family doctors and no one place felt right to the couple. In February they came back to Paulding County to visit their family. On the way back to Columbus they stopped in Van Wert at a drugstore. Smith just asked what the doctor situation was in the city and was soon surrounded by doctors telling him that one was needed soon. It was the opening that they had been waiting for. He came to Van Wert as a family practitioner in 1956, very close to his roots. They purchased a home on Webster Street and settled in.

After a successful and fulfilling career Smith retired from clinical practice on June 1, 1993, but continues as Van Wert County Health Commissioner, a job he has held for 20 years. It is in this capacity that he now continues to fulfill the greatest need in his life, to serve others.

Now his quiet days are spent reading, gardening, fishing and spending time with his children and grandchildren. Daughter Debra Kelly is an eighth grade teacher in Van Wert and son John Lloyd is pastor of a large church in Clearwater, Fla.

From a shy little boy in a small town library, dreaming dreams of places to go and things to see, Dr. Harold Smith has had a full and rewarding life. Lives were touched and the world is a better place because of his pursuit of those dreams. Not bad for a country boy from Jackson Township, Paulding County.

Paulding County roots helped shape Van Wert doctor's life

By VICKI WYATT-BROWN
Feature Writer

Unknown to many, Dr. Harold C. Smith of Van Wert is a Paulding County native who believes his proud heritage helped shape his life and make him the successful physician he is today.

Smith's relatives were influential in the formation of Jackson Township in the late 1800's. His parents had made their home ½ mile north of Ohio 613 on Ohio 637 after their marriage and it was here he was born in 1923.

His father was a farmer and carpenter. He recalls how his father could carve a boat oar out of a tree in one hour. They were "poor" with no phone or electricity. However he never realized they were poor because all of their neighbors and friends around them lived just like they did.

They raised chickens, pigs, cows, and a fantastic garden every year and fruit trees all around. He still remembers the sweetness of wild strawberries and all the dandelion greens and mush they ate. A big treat was finding a tree in the woods full of bees and waiting until they were dormant and then getting the honey. It was a great place to grow up with nature. There was hunting and fishing and woods and creeks to explore. To this day Smith is an avid fisherman and loves the world outdoors.

The social center of the rural community was the Blue Creek Store and the Blue Creek Church. There you could get a checker game going in the store or a baseball game going down the hill. Their farm was the gathering place for several family socials. Friends and neighbors would come and they would wade in the creek, wade in sand knee deep, play in the woods or swing in a giant 40 foot high swing. If they were really lucky someone would make ice cream for all to enjoy.

His one taste of elegance was to visit his Uncle Jim, a lawyer in Celina who lived in a large mansion with a ballroom and had servants. Smith remembers in particular a large stuffed lion or tiger rug with its mouth open. Sometimes Uncle Jim would drive his Packard out to the farm and go hunting.

Dr. Smith's family was very supportive of their children but also demanding of good behavior. His father had completed eight grades of school and his mother had finished her education after her sophomore year. His mother stressed a good education as the only way to really get ahead.

From the beginning Smith was an avid learner and exceptional student. There were very few books in the house. He recalls a book of his father's about the Titanic, three or four novels and a few old school books. A truly big event in his life was a visit to the library in Paulding. There a boy from the farm could let his mind travel anywhere in the world or read about any subject imaginable. Unfortunately for Smith, his reading was limited to his "visiting" time. He never knew when he would be going back to town so returning a book on time was virtually impossible. In the winter especially, having no anti-freeze for the car made a trip to town a rare occasion. That meant owing a fine for overdue books and a poor country boy just didn't have the two cents-a-day available. In later years he remembers sneaking quietly up to the desk and tucking his overdue book under a stack of other books. He hoped the librarian would somehow overlook this but by that time she recognized a young man with a great desire to learn and never said a word to him. It is no wonder that on his retirement his wife presented him with a leather bound set of the Encyclopedia Brittanica. It is still a thrill to open up one of them and read about a new subject.

Smith attended McCabe School. There were no busses and very few books. He remembers a brown set of encyclopedias dated 1890. He believes the teachers were paid $800 a year for all the years he attended. One of his teachers, Lloyd Iler, married his sister Ruth. At 12 years of age he had completed all the grades at McCabe School and was ready for high school. Being small of stature and so young, this seemed like quite a challenge. His father took him to Mr. Ptak, the county superintendent, to see if he could enter high school. After testing him on all subjects, Mr. Ptak agreed he was ready to go on but made him promise to drink three glasses of milk a day. Smith said he felt pangs of guilt later because he did not always fulfill that promise.

He graduated from Paulding High School in 1940 at 16 years of age. After high school he worked on a farm and then got a job at Kroger's where he earned $14 a week. His brother-in-law was also working there part time and one day he caught Smith goofing off and there followed a stern talk about giving an honest day's work for an honest day's wage. This was reinforced by his father's advice that there is no compromise for absolute honesty.

At the end of 2½ years he had $250 saved after he had to pay to have his tonsils removed. He had purchased a 1932 Ford for $100. On his office desk sits a replica of that car only with a rumble seat which his did not have. The replica is probably worth as much as his first car.

Smith then decided to head off to college, entered Ohio Northern and worked at A&P for 25 cents an hour. Being short of funds he says he probably ate twice as much as he was paid. However during the second semester his money ran out.

At this point he decided to join the military to help fund his education. He joined the Navy Reserve. This decision came from a lad who had never seen the ocean and had never traveled farther from home than Fort Wayne, Ind. or Jackson, Mich. He joined in the V-12 program and was paid $21 a month plus his books and tuition. He was sent to Ohio Weslyan.

While at home in February on break he received a telegram to return to the school at once. Upon returning he was informed that due to his high test scores he was being transferred to the University of Notre Dame as part of an extended program for the war. He had two hours to pack and get on the train. He did not even know where Notre Dame was. There he completed an accelerated four year program in two years.

Smith then had to fulfill his "debt" to Uncle Sam and spent his military time aboard a ship in the Pacific War Theatre. He was very close to the spot where Ernie Pyle was killed during the battle of Okinawa. It was on sea duty that he really had time to reflect back on his life and contemplate the direction he wanted to go. He knew being an officer in the Navy was not what he wanted to do. Smith was discharged in 1946.

After the war he entered Ohio State University on the G.I. bill and received his civilian degree in chemistry in about two years. Then he went job hunting, searching the bulletin board at school and applying for anything he thought he could handle. After several disappointing interviews he was hired by Proctor and Gamble of Cincinnati as an industrial sales representative. Thus began his career as a salesman. He learned how to speak at sales meetings which soon made him master his shyness. All of the salesman drove new cars and were on the road countless hours. With no speed limits they drove fast and there were many accidents. Needless to say, they went to defensive driving school.

Smith loved his job and was challenged to develop new uses for many of the products he sold. He was soon a valuable asset to the company. In 1950 he was a single, carefree young man, educated, with a well paying job, driving a new company car and traveling. But it was not enough. He looked around him and did not see the future he really wanted. Sending his 30 day notice to Proctor and Gamble, he went on a fishing trip. He knew the company would not be happy. Upon his return he found an urgent request to come to Cincinnati immediately. There he found out he was soon to be offered a fantastic job in the home of-

Monday evening's activities at the Defiance County Fair were highlighted by the crowning of the 4-H king and queen. Other activities Monday included the 'Parade of Bands', with all five Defiance County high school marching bands performing before a packed house.

Jacob Foust born 20 Jan 1787, occupation Farmer, married (1) Hannah Earley, died Ohio, married (2) 25 May 1841, in Shelby County, Indiana, Delilah Michael, born 11 Oct 1805, died 15 Jan 1854, Warren County, Iowa, buried: North River Cemetery, Warren County, IA. Jacob died 28 Jun 1864, Warren County, Iowa, buried: North River Cemetery, Warren County, IA. He was a Veteran of the War of 1812. The 1850 Census states he was born in North Carolina; however, the 1860 Census shows he was born in Pennsylvania. Nothing is known about his fi[illegible]ife, Hannah Early, except her name, which appears on her daughter, Hannah's, death certificate. Jacob and his second wife, Delilah Michael, moved to Iowa with their children in the late 1840s and settled on a farm in Warren County. They remained there the rest of their lives. Jacob probably had children from his first marriage in addition to those listed here. This might include Catherine, who was married to Isaac Howery and also settled in Warren County, Iowa. The problem with this theory is the fact that the 1850 Census lists her birth as in the year 1819 in North Carolina, which does not conform with the other Foust children's birth state.

Hannah: Nothing can be found to show where or when Hannah was born or who her parents were. There were Early families in Pennsylvania in 1790. These were the families of Edward and Henry in Chester County, 2 Johns in Dauphin County, John in Fayette County, James and John in Franklin County and Thomas and William in Washington County.

Delilah: She probably was a sister of John Michael, who was married to Elizabeth Bishop, the daughter of Jonathan J. Bishop and Lucy Jane Foust. A small inscription on Jacob and Delilah's tombstone states "Erected by H. Foust and J. Michaels".

1. Lucy Jane Foust (daughter of Jacob Foust and Hannah Earley) born 10 May 1809, Delaware County, Ohio, married 1 Sep 1836, in Marion County, Ohio, Jonathan J. Bishop, born 19 Jun 1811, Hancock County, Tennessee, (son of Lewis Bishop and Mary Adams) occupation Farmer, died 15 May 1884, Warren County, Iowa, buried: North River Cemetery, Warren County, IA. Lucy died 15 Dec 1892, Warren County, Iowa, buried: North River Cemetery, Warren County, IA. There is some doubt on the year of her birth as her tombstone shows 1805 and the Family Bible records it as 1809. Soon after their marriage in Ohio, they went to Shelby County, Indiana and farmed there for several years. Shelby County was the birthplace of most of their children. In 1847 they came to Iowa, stopping a year at Burlington, and then came on to Warren County the next year. They settled on a farm close to Middle River, which was about halfway between Spring Hill and Summerset. Lucy had a son, Elias M. Foust, who was born before her marriage to Jonathan. She was midwife to many of the families of the community until she became too old for that activity. She was declared incompetent on 16 June 1892 and her sons, Alexander and Leander, were appointed as her guardians.

   Jonathan: They went to Shelby County, Indiana and farmed there for a number of years before coming to Iowa in 1847. They stayed a year in Burlington, Des Moines County, before coming to Greenfield Township, Warren County in 1848 and remained there to farm the rest of their lives. He was a charter member of the First Christian Church of North River and was on the first board of trustees when the church was organized 2 May 1849. One source states he was born in Washington County, Virginia.

   A. Elias Marion Foust (son of Lucy Jane Foust) born 25 Mar 1831, Marion County, Ohio, occupation Farmer, married (1) 1853, Sarah Etta Bishop, born 23 Oct 1828, occupation Housewife, died 23 Dec 1854, Iowa, buried: North River Cemetery, Warren County, IA, married (2) 4 Sep 1856, in Warren County, Iowa, Margaret Ann Hoover, born 17 Feb 1839, Shelby County, Indiana, (daughter of Ephraim Hoover and Julia Ann Howery) occupation Housewife, died 30 Jun 1914, Warren County, Iowa, buried: North River Cemetery, Warren County, IA. Elias died 29 Nov 1914, Warren County, Iowa, buried: North River Cemetery, Warren County, IA. In his early youth he removed with his mother and stepfather to Shelby County, Indiana and they later joined the tide of emigration which was pushing westward into Iowa. They arrived in Warren County, Iowa in 1848 and the next year Elias bought 40 acres of land from the government for $1.25 per acre. He then cleared the land of the heavy timber and brush, built a log cabin and started farming. Between 1848 and 1853 he also hired out to break ground with his ox team for other newcomers to Warren, Polk and Madison Counties. At one time he operated a ferry boat across the river from downtown Des Moines, which at that time was a very small settlement on the west bank close to the fork of the Des Moines and Raccoon Rivers, to the east bank where the Capitol grounds are now located. He had an opportunity to buy the ground which now includes the Capitol and Capitol grounds in East Des Moines. He deliberated for some time whether he should buy government land for farming or purchase the land which is now in the very heart of Des Moines. He finally elected to remain a farmer on his 40-acre homestead and remained there the rest of his life. It is said that at the time of his death he was the only man left in Warren County who had lived continuously and died on land entered from the government. He apparently was married to Sarah Etta Bishop in the early 1850's; however, no record of this marriage has been found. She died in childbirth and she and her new-born baby were buried together in North River Cemetery. One story states she was a step-sister of Elias, which would indicate his stepfather was married prior to his marriage to Elias' mother. Elias was then married to Margaret Ann Hoover in 1856 and they set up housekeeping in the log cabin he had built earlier. They lived there until it became too small to accommodate their growing family, which eventually numbered 13 children. They built a comfortable story-and-a-half frame house which stood until it was destroyed by fire in the 1960's. The log cabin later served as the home for Margaret's mother, Julia Ann, until her death. It then became a weaving house where Margaret wove rugs and most of the cloth used in making the clothes for the family. Elias was a quiet, gentle and kind man who was respected by all who knew him. He had light, perhaps sandy-red, hair and clear blue eyes and the stocky build of his German ancestors. He served with the Home Guard during the Civil War.

   Sarah: An infant is buried by Sarah.

   Margaret: She was quite prim and sedate - very beautiful in her youth - with dark brown hair and snapping brown eyes. She was noted for her quick temper on occasion. She and Elias both loved to have their family and friends visit them but they seldom went away from their home. They were both baptized in the First Christian Church of North River about 1890 and they remained steadfast in their faith in Christ even though they were unable to attend services regularly. In 1913 she was stricken with paralysis from which she had not recovered when a second stroke left her completely helpless and without the power of speech as only her eyes moved. Their daughter, Addie Kennedy, and her family moved in with them after Margaret's first stroke and took complete care of them until their deaths. At Margaret's funeral at North River Church, Elias stood by the casket and softly murmured "It won't be long, Mother."

He lived only 5 months after her death.

B. Mary Ann Bishop (daughter of Jonathan J. Bishop and Lucy Jane Foust) born 19 Jun 1837, Ohio, occupation Housewife, married 9 Mar 1853, in Warren County, Iowa, Abraham B. Alexander, born 13 Dec 1829, Shelby County, Indiana, (son of Elijah Alexander and Elizabeth Whited) occupation Farmer, died 9 Apr 1902, Glenwood, Mills County, Iowa, buried: 10 Apr 1902, Glenwood Cemetery, Glenwood, Iowa. Mary died 9 Oct 1926, Bartlett, Fremont County, Iowa, buried: Glenwood Cemetery, Glenwood, Iowa.

Abraham: Abraham (Abram) moved to a farm in Greenfield Township, Warren County, Iowa with his parents in 1847. He farmed in Warren County until 1896, when he bought property in Glenwood. He remained there the rest of his life. Abraham's obituary stated they had 10 children and was survived by 7 of them. Apparently he and Mary had two other children who died when they were young.

C. Elizabeth Bishop (daughter of Jonathan J. Hannah died 14 Mar 1909, Warren County, Iowa, buried: North River Cemetery, Warren County, IA. At an early age she united with the First Christian Church of North River and remained a follower of the same until death claimed her to relieve her of her suffering. Funeral services were held at her home. She had come to Iowa with her family in the 1840's.
Joshua: His first wife, Anna Bishop, was his first cousin. After living in Shelby County, Indiana for several years, they left their Indiana home and started their trip to Iowa. Anna apparently died enroute after giving birth to her fifth baby. He and his family came from Shelby County by way of Springfield, Illinois and crossed the Mississippi River at what is now Keokuk, Iowa. They made the trip in at least one covered wagon, which was drawn by 6 yokes of oxen. They arrived in Greenfield Township, Warren County, Iowa in the middle 1840's and immediately "squatted" on and "staked out" 160 acres. During the Winter he cut, split and hauled rails from the nearby timber - which he also pre-empted - to fence it all. He had already built his log cabin before Winter set in. He apparently obtained the land at a later date under "squatter's rights", or the Pre-emption Act of 1841, which provided that a squatter, upon showing evidence of having erected a dwelling on the land he claimed, could buy 160 acres at the rate of $1.25 per acre. All of his efforts were not in vain as the 1870 Census shows that Joshua had become a wealthy man by that day's standards.

Dear Lucy M. Weaver:

Miracles never cease! I have hunted for years for a lead on Jobe Foust, and then out of the clear blue sky came your letter and precious data. I am dispensing with a business form letter as you and I are relation and I hope we may correspond and together work out Jobe's family.

I do not personally know Robin Faust but I do know very well his parents and have their complete history worked out. He is the same as I, just a distant cousin but anyone with the name of Faust - Foust are relation as all the Foust's come from the same origin. If Robin is anything like his parents, he is one of the best. Tell him I can remember his father and uncle Carl diving off the top of the iron bridge that crosses the Shawtown road. It is a wonder they didn't break their necks.

You are just a year younger than my daughter. I am 61 and my husband is 71. He is a retired New York Central R.R. Agent and we have three grandchildren 20,17 and 14. This is so you will have an idea of whom you are writing to. I am also a bookkeeper but only work parttime anymore.

Now, I don't know just how much you know about the early history of the Faust family but from your data, I believe you have done a little research - perhaps from court records? I was very happy to receive all this data and will include it in my records with the exception of the family of Kester Foust. Kester Foust was not a son of Jobe but a son of Jonas Foust and his mother was Elizabeth Kester. Jonas was a younger brother of Jobe's father and always lived around Morrow Co. but Kester and his family did migrate north to Van Wert Co. and you probably picked up data in Van Wert Co. Kester did marry Sarah Ann Paterson 1-1-1860 in Morrow Co. and moved to Van Wert Co. sometime in the 1870's. You have the names of his children correct. Jobe had a son named Lester which I will show later in some data.

The Faust family originated in Rome in the year of 88 B.C., fought in many wars and because of these wars gradually migrated north ending in Germany. The first Faust's to come to America came from the Black Forests of Germany via Holland to London, England and then to the port of Philadelphia on the Ship Elizabeth landing Aug. 27, 1733. They settled in Berks Co., Penna. They were educated and having money were able to purchase land immediately. But because of no schools, the next few generations could neither read nor write.

We descend from the immigrant, Philip whose oldest son was Johan Jacob, aged 4 when they arrived. Johan Jacob's son was also named Jacob, born 1757 and he is the one who migrated to Ohio in 1800 and to Delaware Co. 1807. His oldest son was also named Jacob XXX born 1785 and this was the father of Jobe born ca. 1812. Jobe was born in Delaware Co. as Marion Co. had not been formed yet although later some of their land did get in Marion Co. The Jacob, b. 1757 was a Rev. War Pensioner as was also his father, Johan Jacob. Johan means John.

Now, Jacob, b. 1785 had at least six children but I am only sure of the names of two, Jesse and Jobe. I do not know Jacob's wife's name and the cemetery where they were buried has been torn up by the farmer who at one time owned the land. Can you help me any on this? And would you know any of the others names besides Jesse and Jobe?

Will you please check the rest of the data, correct any errors and fill in any more which you might know? Write to me and ask any questions and I will answer if I can. I can authenticate what I have mentioned above.

Again I am glad you contacted me and do hope to continue.

Sincerely,

Cuba Faust Vance

Now, the Faust family originated in Rome in 88 B.C. Sulla, an Emperor and Dictator of Rome was married five times, his fourth wife being Cecelia Matella and whom gave birth to twins, Fausta, a girl and Faustus, a boy. Fausta was as bad as her father but Faustus was a clean living, hard fighting man who was always on the side of Christianity and freedom. Faustus married the daughter of Pompey and thus began the name later changed to Faust. In Faustus' day people only had one name but by the time the Dark Ages were over the Faust's were found in the Black Forests of Germany and with two names but sometimes spelled different even in the same family.

The Faust's are Huguenots having belonged to the German Reformed Church located across the Rhine River in France. That land changed hands several times during all those years of bitter fighting. Also the Faust's can take some credit for the invention of type. Guttenberg had the brilliant idea (and does get the credit) for printing but he had no money so his friend, John Fust (Faust) of Mayence, Germany provided the money and set up a print press in an old room and they started a book. Guttenberg was unable to repay his loan so Faust took over the entire operation by himself. The first book was a Book of Psalms. Guttenberg should be given the credit of getting back financially stable and later did turn out much printed material.

The Faust's were hard working, Stocky Built people, mercenary wanting good land, and also imaginative. It is said that one Faust dreamed up or imagined he was the devil. Anyway he put his idea to work and the Opera "Faust" was the result. But the Faust's did become scientists, doctors, ministers etc. They were civic minded people and became mayors of towns and rich merchants. They came to America for freedom and because of the oppression of wars but they did not come poor. They had money to buy land, start schools etc.

Johan Jacob Faust where after his death was discovered the Flower and Mertz Coal Mine, one of the richest mines in Penna. Jacob Faust who came to Ohio sold the land that later was the site of Elysburg, Penna. and, I believe, is now Sunbury, Penna. Abraham, my ancester, was the wealthiest of all the Ohio Faust's at one time owning over 1,000 acres near Westfield, Ohio. It is said he had 30 yoke of oxen and loaned money to neighbors and friends never taking a note. He claimed a paper was no better than his word. He was a Universalist.

Oh, yes, I have established Jacob Faust as a Rev. War Pensioner with the National Society of Daughters of America (D.A.R.) and am a member of that Society. You are also eligible.

Our hobby (yours and mine) takes a lot of time for research but speaking for myself has been so rewarding. The Faust family is no ordinary family but one that all who have any connection should be justly proud.

It will take you some time to digest all of this, and besides I am tired so I will close for now. Anxious to hear your reply.

Love,

Cuba

Dear Cuba,

So happy to receive your letter! I hope you realize that you are dealing with a rank amateur when it comes to genealogy. It has been just two years since I started compiling information(and not just on the Foust-Faust family) and my sources have been birth and death records(luckily housed in Def. Co. Health Dept.), clippings,photos, and the Genealogy Dept. of the Fort Wayne Public Library. They have the Census listings, histories, and some Probate Court Records. My biggest problem has been the time to do the research required and to keep my records organized.Will enclose a couple of the forms I use to keep data on.

First of all, since you and Robin are both related to me..may I ask you to explain just how. Still can't get over the co-incidence of his selecting our Health Dept. to work in..so many co-incidences like this have happened to me...

As you will be able to see from the enclosed papers, I am almost 40 yrs. old... have lived in Defiance all of my life, as has my husband,who will be 48. Our dtr. is 15..soon to be 16. My husband has worked at Dorrows for 18 years and I've been at the Health Dept. as a Public Health Nurse the same amount of years. You will note that I am named/Lucy for my Great-grandmother Lucy Foust..and my mother carries her middle name of Arvilla. I've always been interested in this side of the family as my mother always admired her grandmother,who was an avid gardener, very kindly, and a sturdy hard working woman. Also you will note as I did..that heart disease is the prevailing cause of death in this branch of the family.

Thanks for clearing up the mystery of Lester and Kester..I knew that somehow my facts didn't jibe..also discovered I had left out two chn.

I had no idea of the origins of the family..do you have more details on this? I added bits and pieces from your letter to what I already had. Had the article on Rev. War soldier Jacob Faust, but didn't know how to connect him to the family.

Started filling in your questionaire..and will return it along with a more detailed version of everything I have in my notebook on the Fausts. Also have photos and certs. which I would like to show you sometime.

Know very little on the Knestricks,who resided around Mt. Gilead..believe there were some sons,but don't know their names..My Mom thought one was a dwarf or midget???

There was quite a bit of divorce and remarriage among my Grandma's half-sisters. "Jennie" evidently moved around quite abit and had several husbands.

Another clue which might be helpful to us on Job's family: In 1892, Albert listed only Lucy and Chauncey as his siblings(evidently the others had died).,In 1929,in Lucy Foust's obituary only Chauncey is listed as a brother. Perhaps Van Wert Probate Court would have records. I also wondered about Mary Pierce as you did.

Hope to hear from you soon. Perhaps together, we can put all the pieces together. There are a lot of Fausts living in Scott,Ohio..Paulding,Ohio and Hicksville,Ohio. Do you know anything about O.F. Foust in Ardmore, Okla...Robin told me about him. Did you go to the Faust family reunion? Please forgive my spelling the name two diff. ways..I am used to o.

Forgive my answering so slow..couldn't squeeze in the time until now.

Dear Lucy:

I hardly know where to begin, there is so much to tell about the Faust family. First though, I must tell you that I have had a bad year and if I am slow in answering you, just be patient, I will answer. Last holiday time I had a terrible head cold and head aches which I blamed on my glaucoma. I got some better and then got an infection in my eye which later proved to be caused by medication. Then I started to be light headed which I blamed on high blood pressure but I was wrong. I had an inner ear infection and had to spend time in the hospital. I had just been released when I got your first letter and was so excited. I tho't I would get well immediately but it hasn't worked out that way, I have good days when I overdo and then a few days recuperating. But I am improving and the doctor says mine was an infection and will not be chronic. It is possible it dates back to the head cold. Anyway about all I have gotten done lately is work with insurance claims.

Now, thanks for the data which I have checked and incorporated in my own. I am sending back the first sheet with a few corrections and then I have filled in the first three generations of Fausts in America but I am not very good on forms so I hope you can make them out.

My idea on the names Faust - Foust, the spelling that is, became Foust when Jacob came to Ohio. It was spelled au in Rome, in Germany and in Penna. and the Fausts were educated people when they came to America, even writing their own names in the ship's log, but there being no schools where they settled, the next generations never learned to read or write. When Jacob bought land here in Delaware County, the court records show both him and Christina signing an X. The name sounded like ou and the Clerk of Courts wrote it that way and with the X under it, it became Foust. A good many later changed it back to Faust and my mother having studied German was one of them. She told my father that was the correct way so they had Faust put on their marriage license. The rest of my fathers family still stuck to Foust. Nationally, either way is correct today.

As to our relationship, we are distant cousins as beginning with the children of Jacob who came to Delaware Co. in 1807 we come down thus:

Jacob b. 1785, Jobe b. 1812, Lucy Arvilla b. 1844, Daisy Myrtle b. 1884,
Erma Arvilla b. 1905 and Lucy Marlene b. 1933.
Abraham b. 1796, Wilson b. 1821, Oran Karson b. 1861, Clifford b. 1890 and Cuba June b. 1912.
Samuel b. 1804, Cyrus b. 1838, Henry D. b. 1880, Guy Delzen b. 1914 and Robin b. 1948.

Yes, I know O. H. Foust from Ardmore, Oklahoma. We were out to the Kansas reunion just once and visited in Ardmore, met quite a few of his family and he with a brother Frank have been to Ohio a good many times. His mother is a full blooded Cherokee and Chocktaw Indian, looks like an Indian, talks gutteral but is a very fine woman, very religious and hard working when she was able. She was far above her Foust husband who eventually deserted his family and she was left to raise them. Two are ministers, the girl is a nurse, one is a plumber and O. H. besides being a minister is an electrician.

O. H. descends from John b. 1787 and who had 19 children (another family giving me fits) scattering with all four winds. I doubt if I ever get them all straightened out.

Dear Ms. Weaver:

After visiting with a local undertaker in Indanola, we have found North River Cemetary's location.

When going north towards Des Moines from Indianola traveling on highway 65/69, you will pass a lawn ornament business by the name of D & R Lawn Ornaments. You will proceed past this business a ways, over a bridge and turn west on the first gravel road. You will then follow this road 3 1/2 miles and should come to North River Cemetary.

Hope this information helps you.

Sincerely,

Kathy Mika

Lucy,

According to the pension file, Lester died in Nashville, TN of erysipelas(?). Sarah first applied for Lester's pension on Dec. 23, 1882. Her application states that "she was in part dependent upon said son for support" and that her husband "Job Foust, aged 73 years, is physically unable to support himself and family." She received $12 a month until her death in 1889. Job then applied for the pension on July 15, 1890. Both Sarah and Job signed their applications with an X and had to have two witnesses who could sign their own names, so I assume neither one could read or write!

On a General Affidavit, a witness stated "that he has known Jobe Foust for thirty four years and that he was dependent on the said Lester B. Foust, know that he had rhumatize in 1863 was not able to perform half the work of an able bodied man." One more interesting fact - E.H. Bennett is listed as the undertaker of Scott, and he reported both Sarah and Job's deaths, so there's a good chance they are both buried in Taylor Cemetery.

I thought you might be interested in reading some of this. There is much more in the file, but a lot of it is hard to read. If you want to see it, I'll send you a copy.

Pell is my married name, and Batdorff was my maiden name. My mother, Linda Foust, married Steven Batdorff. I am the oldest of their five children. The others are Jenelle, Craig, Curtis, and Caleb.

Faust was ex-bandleader, played in big-time groups

BY BLADE STAFF WRITER

Mearl Faust, of East Toledo, a bandleader who played in nationally known orchestras during the swing era, died of a ruptured aorta yesterday in Mercy Hospital. He was 87.

During the late 1940s, Mr. Faust had his own orchestra, which played nightclubs, the Commodore Perry Motor Inn, and the Paramount and Valentine theaters. The group had its own radio program, and the Mearl Faust Orchestra's biggest hit on record was "Juke Box Jamboree."

Earlier in his career, he played violin and trombone with the orchestras of the Dorsey brothers, trumpeter Bunny Berigan, and trombonist Jack Teagarden.

"It was a real thrill when he got chosen, because he was a young guy then," his granddaughter, Richanna Smith, said. "He had a lot of funny stories. He loved music and the thrill of being with people.

"He was just fun-loving. The stories he told just brought you close to him."

And he knew all the big-time bands, Alice Ramsay, a friend for more than a decade, said.

"He traveled all over the United States and Canada," she said. "Music was his first love. He had other jobs — at Champion [Spark Plug], the railroad — but musicians have to have a second job."

He also gave lessons at the former Grinnell Bros. music store, his granddaughter said.

Mr. Faust donated much of his music memorabilia to Bowling Green State University and to a museum in Clarklake Mich., which was hometown of his wife, Evelyn. The two met when Mr. Faust played a dance at a Clarklake resort, their granddaughter said.

Mrs. Faust died in 1982.

A native of Big Rapids, Mich., Mr. Faust moved to Toledo after attending music school in Charlotte, Mich.

He kept his interest in trains as an N-gauge model railroader.

"He had little trains all over," his granddaughter said.

And he had an encyclopedic knowledge of automobiles.

"He loved cars; he could tell you anything about any car," Mrs. Ramsay said.

Also surviving are five other grandchildren; 12 great-grandchildren, and 3 great-great grandchildren.

Services will be at 11 a.m. Tuesday in the Hoeflinger Mortuary, Oregon, were the body will be after 2 p.m. tomorrow.

In REMEMBRANCE

God hath not promised
Skies always blue,
Flower-strewn pathways
All our lives through;
God hath not promised
Sun without rain,
Joy without sorrow,
Peace without pain.

But God hath promised
Strength for the day,
Rest for the labor,
Light for the way.
Grace for the trials,
Help from above,
Unfailing sympathy
Undying love . . .

REMARKS..

....

In Remembrance

A Little Step Away

To close the eye, to fall asleep,
To draw a labored breath,
To find release from daily cares
In what we know as death . . .

Is this the crowning of a life,
The aim or end thereof?
The totaled sum of consciousness,
The ripened fruit of love?

It cannot be, for works of God
Are wrought for nobler ends,
And those away continue on
In the hearts of kin and friends.

It cannot be, for they live on
A little step away.
The soul, the everlasting life,
Has found a better day. . . . .

THE Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me. Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: Thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.

IN MEMORIAM

The Twenty-Third Psalm

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures:
He leadeth me beside the still waters.
He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil:
for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.
Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies:
thou anointest my head with oil;
my cup runneth over.
Surely goodness and mercy shall follow
me all the days of my life:
and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.

MRS. EITNIEAR DIES SUDDENLY

Rites for Rt. 24 Resident To Be Conducted Here Friday

Apr 8, 1947

Mrs. Margaret May Eitniear, 61, wife of Lee E. Eitniear, died at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in her home on U. S. route 24 about a mile west of Defiance. She passed away a short time after suffering a heart attack.

The body is at Morris Mortuary, where services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. Dr J. C. Richards will officiate. Burial will be in Sherwood cemetery.

Mrs. Eitniear was born Feb. 10, 1886, in Van Wert county. She was a daughter of Milton and Lucy Foust Hemlinger. Most of her life was spent in the Defiance area. She was married to Mr. Eitniear May 8, 1912, in Wabash, Ind.

Besides her husband, she leaves a sister, Mrs. Daisy Wheaton, Garrett; two half sisters, Mrs. Jennie Davidson, Detroit, and Mrs. Ellen Eller, Van Wert; and a half brother Horace Knestrick, Mt. Gilead.

IN MEMORIAM

In Loving Memory of our Dear Wife and Sister, Margret M. Eitniear, who passed away two years ago today, April 8, 1947.

God took Margret away so sudden
The shock was hard to stand;
But He wanted her in His garden,
In a much more beautiful land.

God did not give us a warning;
He was taking her away
For He knew we all loved Margret
And would bef Him to let her stay.

So God with the best of judgement
Did what He though best
And said come with me faithful servant
For your eternial rest.

Now our home circle spokes are broken
And our hearts are heavy with grief.
Our only consolation is, dear Margret,
That some day we will be with you in heavenly peace.

Sadly missed by her Husband, Sister and Nieces:

MORROW COUNTY, OHIO   MOUND or FOUST CEMETERY
Westfield Township

This old cemetery is near the center of Westfield Township, now in Morrow County, but until 1848 a part of early Delaware County. It is on the east bank of the Whetstone or East Branch of Olentangy River, and back about ¼ mile from the road that runs northeast from the village of Westfield. It is about 1½ miles northeast of Westfield and about ½ mile south of the bridge over the Whetstone on the Waldo Road. It is out of sight of the road but can be reached by going past a small farm house and farm buildings. The name "Mound Cemetery" was given it long ago because it is situated on a fairly steep knoll near the creek, supposed to be an old Indian mound. It is possible that this is partly an artificial mound, but a little way down the slope the work of ground hogs has brought out some of the native shale, indicating that the knoll is at least partly a natural feature. The place is in fairly good condition, and shows evidence of care. The earliest burial date noted was 1825, the wife of John Foust, the latest one 1924, Leander Foust. All legible inscriptions were copied; but some stones are illegible, and some apparently gone. Some graves have markers of native limestone with no inscriptions.

WINSOR CORNERS CEMETERY
Oxford Township

This little cemetery is on the west side of the north-and-south road just north of Winsor Corners. There is said to have been a Methodist congregation here as early as 1815- very soon after the settlers came. This is the very north-west corner of Oxford Township and only a few miles south of the "Indian line," and the family names in the old churchyard are those of the pioneer families. The cemetery is in fairly good condition and appears to have some care. All inscriptions were copied. Copied Oct. 20, 1949

Fatalities turn holiday tragic

By TODD HELBERG
City Editor

A Hicksville woman's retirement plans ended tragically Friday for her and two passengers following a single-car crash on Farmer-Mark Road.

Meanwhile, Ohio Highway Patrol troopers say they tried to intercept a weaving Indiana semi driver who died after slamming into two trucks on U.S. 24.

Three dead: Victims all from Hicksville

The three Defiance County women died shortly after their car went off Farmer-Mark Road, one mile north of Ohio 18, striking a culvert and flipping onto its side.

The driver, Dorothy Girlie, 57, Mark Center, was pronounced dead at Hicksville's Community Memorial Hospital, while her passengers, Ruth Ours, 60, Hicksville, and Ida Schooley, 53, Hicksville, were pronounced dead at the scene of the 4 p.m. crash. Ours and Girlie were sisters.

Sources said Girlie had just retired Friday from Ohio Art Co., Bryan, where she had been employed for 28 years. Ours and Schooley were also employees of Ohio Art, having worked there 30 and 35 years, respectively.

FATALITIES

They were all long-time residents of the Hicksville and Mark Center area, according to persons who knew them. (See obituaries, page A5.)

According to troopers of the patrol's Defiance post, Girlie's car caught on fire after the crash, engulfing the front end and dash area. Passers-by said they doused the flames with buckets of water before authorities arrived.

Troopers said the three women were wearing safety belts and were trapped inside the vehicle although the fire was apparently not a factor in their deaths.

Hicksville EMS, Sherwood EMS and Defiance County sheriff's deputies assisted troopers.

Not long before that crash, an Indianapolis truck driver, Dwayne Gaines, 34, died after his semi slammed into a pair of westbound trucks on U.S. 24, just west of Defiance's Carpenter Road. Gaines was pronounced dead on arrival at Defiance Hospital after suffering massive head and chest injuries.

His semi first went left of center and collided with a truck driven by Katherine Tuten, 42, Greenville, Fla. She and her husband, James Tuten, 41, were not injured, and pulled off the road after being struck.

The errant semi then continued on, striking a tractor-trailer rig driven by Thomas Vanaman, 31, Ocala, Fla., and sending it into a ditch. He was taken by Defiance firefighters to Defiance Hospital where he was treated and released.

Lt. P.W. Combs, commander of the Defiance post, said a motorist had followed Gaines' semi for five miles west of Defiance before reporting his erratic driving to a stopped trooper on U.S. 24.

Combs, who was on patrol at the time of the crash, said troopers were immediately dispatched to locate Gaines' semi.

"A motorist stopped and said, 'This trucker was all over the road,' " said Combs. "We tried to get to him but didn't get there in time."

Gaines was driving east from Indianapolis, and had apparently become fatigued, Combs said. Blood samples were taken, he explained, but alcohol or drugs were not suspected as the cause of Gaines' erratic driving.

After the crash, Defiance firefighters flushed 500 gallons of diesel fuel off U.S. 24, a spill which required the attention of Ohio EPA.

Despite Friday's tragedies, Combs said the post has stepped up patrol on U.S. 24 and other busy routes since the holiday weekend began for statistical purposes on Friday morning.

According to Combs, three troopers worked U.S. 24 all day Friday and Saturday, netting more than 80 arrests in Defiance and Henry counties.
